THE handsome majority of the Republican ticket, elected at the election on Monday, is due purely to the schemers who managed the Democratic primary and the shelling of worthy and honest officials. It ought to serve as a pointer to certain gentlemen who were active in that convention. Democrats are apparently getting tired of being dominated by office holders and ex-officio holders.

Death of James Mellor.

The community was shocked, on Thursday, by a telegram announcing the death of James Mellor, a former well-known citizen of this place, on the night previous at his home near Van Wert, Ohio. The fore part of the week intelligence was received by Mr. T. M. Kelley, his brother-in-law, that he was quite ill, and his brother, Joseph Mellor, hastened to his bedside, arriving there on Wednesday morning, when he found him suffering from lung fever. Although very sick, indeed, he was entirely conscious, and conversed rationally with his brother during the day, asking about his friends, and to his wife, in view of his approaching dissolution, which he was cognizant, he gave directions concerning the disposition of his affairs, and a little before midnight he quietly passed away.

Deceased was born near Martin's Ferry, Ohio, June 27, 1836, and was the son of James Mellor, sr., a well-known farmer of this section from 1826 to 1858, when he died, and the subject of our sketch died at his home, near Van Wert, Ohio, on Thursday, April 1st, 1886, at the age of 49 years, and was buried in the cemetery at Van Wert, Ohio, on Friday, April 2nd, 1886.

He was a member of the Union League of Ohio, and served in the campaigns in the East with his regiment in many hard fought battles, and was captured at Gettysburg and returned home in August, 1864, and resumed his occupation on the homestead about a mile east of this place. December 23, 1875, he was married to Miss Mary McKelvey, the daughter of 1882, he removed to Grand Forks, Dakota, and engaged in farming, but the climate not agreeing with him he returned to Ohio, and in April of last year purchased a farm near the Van Wert, Ohio, and moved to it with his family.

During many years deceased was a citizen of this locality, and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. He was a pillar in the Masonic order, and was a member of the Grand Lodge of Hope Commandery, holding high rank as an efficient Knight. After removing to Grand Forks, through his efforts, a Commandery was established there, and he was elected its first Commander.

He was a gallant soldier, doing his duty nobly in the defense of his country—a good and useful citizen—an affectionate husband and tender parent, and his bereaved wife and two little fatherless children, and brothers and sisters, have the sympathy of the entire community.

The body of the deceased was brought to the homestead, arriving on Friday, and the funeral took place on Sunday, Rev. W. H. Tarkenton officiating at the religious services at the house, after which funeral obsequies were conducted under the auspices of Hope Commandery, and a detachment of Drummond Post G. A. R., attended the funeral as a mark of respect to their deceased comrade. At the tomb, in Union cemetery, the beautiful burial service of the Masonic order was rendered, in the presence of weeping friends, and his soldier comrades cast a spray of evergreen upon the casket, and all that was left of James Mellor was hid away forever from human view.

THE Republicans of Kirkwood made a splendid showing, electing their entire ticket except two trustees, by a margin of 107 down. Below are the names of the elect:

Trustees: Geo W Ward, R. 3 years; Jas A Shepherd, R. 2 years; L F Murphy, D. 1 year.

Clerk: C. H. James.

Treasurer: J. N. Perkins.

Assessors: Hendryburg prec. George Hays; Sewellville prec. A. E. Hibbs.

Constables: Geo Chessell, sr. W. I. Clark.

A S Taylor was elected Justice of the Peace without opposition.

In Peace there was a desperate effort to get up a division among Republicans, but it failed, and the Republicans swept the field.

In Bridgeport, C. A. Jenkins was re-elected mayor, and Jos McConaghey, marshal.

In Bellaire, W. H. Brown, Rep, had 180 majority over McGraham, Dem, for mayor. Burke, Dem, for marshal was beaten by Darby, 146 votes, and Pearson, Rep., was elected solicitor over Woodbridge, by 351 votes. Rodewig, Dem, was elected treasurer.

The vote in the entire township, including the city, resulted in the election of two Republicans and one Dem, as trustee, a Republican clerk, Dem. treasurer and two Republican constables.

In Flushing tp, the Republicans, as usual, were successful, with one or two trifling exceptions.

In Wheeling township the Republicans elected Capt A. W. Lee, Justice of the Peace, an unprecedented occurrence in that township, and made it generally interesting for their opponents, reducing their majority.

Notice to Assessors.
